PEGGY JOYCE MORE IS REALLY HAPPY

$150,000 Home "Wonderful," Wires Heroine of "It Pays to Flirt."

"Information correct. Beautiful home. Come down and see me. Make it wonderful."
"PEGGY JOYCE."

This message was received in Washington yesterday by a friend of Peggy Hopkins in answer to a telegram asking the actress if it really was true that she was the bride of J. Stanley Joyce, millionaire Chicago lumberman.

The friend asked further if it were true also that Mr. Joyce had given Peggy as a bridal gift a $100,000 home at Miami, Fla., and $50,000 furnishings for it.

What is more, it is understood the Joyce have taken an apartment in Park avenue, New York, in the Sixties, which will become their New York town house when it has been suitably decorated and furnished, and when they tire of the charms of Miami.

This is the third matrimonial venture of the young heroine of "It Pays to Flirt." "A Sleepless Night" and other Broadway successes.

Her first husband was Everett Archer, a millionaire from Denver. She ran away to be married to him when she was only seventeen years old. In a comparatively short time she had the marriage annulled.

She returned to Washington, where she met Sherburne Hopkins, Jr., a dashing society man, son of a lawyer who was well known for the moneyed

Nobody Privileged When U. S. Figures On Income Taxes

There are no privileged characters, no distinctions, in the personal income tax. Everybody living in the United States, whether citizen or alien, is subject to this law.

In order to be practical to keep the wheels from bogging down with useless records, the law does not require annual returns of the very small incomes. The beginning is at $1,000 for an unmarried person and $2,000 for a married couple.

Certain kinds of income are exempt, but this fact does not relieve anybody of responsibility with respect to his taxable income.

The law puts a burden squarely on the shoulders of each of us—we must individually figure out our own liability for a return and a tax.

Interests in Mexico that he represented, including, it is said, the Constitutionalist. Young Hopkins, too, was rated a millionaire. Two years after their marriage she obtained a divorce. About that time, it will be recalled, Peggy was quoted as saying she intended to get married fourteen times, but was through with millionaires. Indeed, she advised young girls against millionaires as husbands.

But in her third venture she has gravitated again toward the taboo class. Mr. Joyce is well known in Chicago society. He is a graduate of Yale.

SAYS LOBBYISTS BLOCKED PENSIONS

Pomerene Explains Opposition to Civil Service Retirement Legislation.

"Lobbyists are responsible for the fact that there is no civil service retirement legislation at the present time," is the explanation of Senator Pomerene of Ohio, for his blockade of the Sterling-Leibach measure in the Senate late yesterday.

Hopes for early passage of the retirement measure, which will affect all employees of the District Government, as well as those of the Federal Government, were abandoned yesterday when Senators Pomerene and King of Utah both objected to its consideration.

Senator Pomerene did not name the lobbyists, but he inferred that they are employees of the Government who had been besieging members of Congress for a number of years in the interests of the Sterling-Leibach bill.

"I am satisfied that the Civil Service Retirement Committee has been grossly deceived regarding the cost to put the proposed measure into effect," said Senator Pomerene.

"Beginning with a cost of $5,000,000 a year, it will increase to $35,000,000 and then decline to $28,000,000. The high cost of this bill has been kept in the background by the experts who have appeared before Senator Sterling's committee."

"I am not opposed to a retirement plan," said Senator Pomerene, "but I am opposed to this plan, and I think a majority of the Senate will be opposed when members realize the cost." It was Senator Pomerene who killed the measure in the last Congress, and it is more than likely that he will repeat the performance.

It is uncertain now when the bill will be taken up again, although Senator Sterling, who is in charge of it, believes there is no reason to give up all hope of its passage at this session.

The opposition that revealed itself to the measure yesterday foretells a bitter struggle when the measure does finally come before the Senate for consideration.

to Remove Hairs
(Toilet Talks)
Keep a little delicate powder of your dressing table and when ugly hairy growths appear, make a paste with a little of the powder and some water, apply and let remain on the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. This treatment is quite harmless and rarely more than one application is required, but to avoid disappointment care should be used to buy the real delatone.
